Spare Parts and Accessories.

Hands down, hands free is the ultimate way to go when using your hands at work. Let go of the remote but keep it safe and close.

Working days tend to get long when something doesn't feel right. Specially developed to work with Scanreco transmitters, these accessories let the operator keep the remote closely at hand, but able to work hands free to do other tasks.

If the need arises for a spare toggle, lever, button or even a screen replacement should occur, there are replacement components available.
